BAPTIST CONFERENCE.
Storm Keeps Down Attendance at Monday's Sessions—Interesting Addresses.

The severe storm had a bad effect on the attendance at the conference held at the Baptist church in this city Monday afternoon and evening in connection with the United Missionary movement. It was practically impossible for people to get in from surrounding country places and had walking in the city itself undoubtedly kept many at home. In the neighborhood of 40 or 50 were present, however, and were repaid for their trouble by the excellent addresses delivered by Rev. J. C. Robbins of Boston joint secretary for New England and Dr. A. B. Coates of Hartford, general secretary of Connecticut Baptist convention. There were two sessions, one at 2.30, the other at 7.30 and a delectable supper was served at 8.30 to those present.

AFTER MEASLES
Whooping-Cough or Scarlet Fever
is a critical period—touched throats, delicate bronchial tubes and unsteady lungs often follow; sometimes impaired sight or hearing.
But if SCOTT'S EMULSION is taken promptly and regularly after the fever subsides it quickly restores pure blood and strengthens the lungs. Its nourishing force restores appetite, strength and energy.
SCOTT'S EMULSION contains just the elements nature requires to restore sound health; it is totally free from alcohol or harmful drugs. Children relish it.

Monday afternoon, the roads in this section were broken out Monday after being closed for about 48 hours. The carriers of the postoffice in this section have had the hardest time in years, and in some cases had to return to their offices without completing their trips.

temperature approaching zero could not stop the Putnam public from responding on Monday to the coming of the Bradley theater of the Whiteside Strauss company, which holds the house record, made on a previous engagement, for attendance. The bill Monday, matinee and evening, was The Dugger, a rural drama after the style of Way Down East, and seen here for the first time. There have been some changes in the makeup of the company since it was last here, but the verdict of Monday's audiences was that the combination is stronger than ever.

A Most Unwelcome Storm. Much that was accomplished during Sunday and the early hours of Monday to break out highways in the outlying districts of the town was undone by Monday's storm, which increased in violence as the day wore on. Patrick K. Smith and a force of men worked in the eastern section of Putnam during Sunday breaking out the highways. This was difficult work on account of the crust that formed on the snow, but the crust had the redeeming quality of preventing the snow from drifting. During the afternoon of Monday the snow began to drift back in the roads broken out by the workers and at night was threatening to have them blocked again by this morning. Trains again went off schedule Monday afternoon, nearly all of them being reported late. The flangers were kept running over the lines and the snow was kept open, though, with the amount of snow already on the ground, the racing storm had the railroad men thinking of what conditions would be if the storm continued.

Busy Day at Exchange.

Saturday was a big day at the local telephone exchange. The blockade of the electric line and the delays in the running of steam trains was a cause of many people putting in calls, especially on the line where there was an unusual number of this class, with a big local business, all of which was quickly and competently handled.

Only Routine Business was Transacted.
